DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to under 37 CFR 1.71, as being so incomprehensible as to preclude a reasonable search of the prior art by the examiner. For example, the following items are not understood: "a phase setting device for matching the operating frequency of the inverter" are not show on the figure or what kind of elements or resistor or capacitor or control..etc can be the phase setting device?.

Applicant is required to submit an amendment which clarifies the disclosure so that the examiner may make a proper comparison of the invention with the prior art.

Applicant should be careful not to introduce any new matter into the disclosure (i.e., matter which is not supported by the disclosure as originally filed).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire ONE MONTH or THIRTY DAYS, whichever is longer, from the mailing date of this letter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 5-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) with the best understood as being unpatentable by Rudolph et al (US 5,589,740).

Regarding claims 1, 5-7 and 9, Rudolph discloses a circuit apparatus for operating a lamp in particular a low-pressure discharge lamp (LP1 and LP2), having an inverter device (Q1 and Q2) for supplying the lamp with alternating current (Control circuit A), which has at least one transistor switching unit , and a current limiting device, which is connected to the at least one transistor switching unit for limiting the current through the at least one transistor switching unit, wherein the control electrode of the at least one transistor switching unit can be driven by the current limiting device for the purpose of current limitation. See figures 1-3, col.3, lines 36-67 to col.8, lines 1-38.

Regarding claim 2, Rudolph discloses the inverter device comprises a half-bridge including the at least one transistor unit and a further transistor unit. See figures 1-3.

Regarding claim 8, Rudolph discloses current limiting device comprises a switching device by means of which the at least one transistor switching unit can be switched on and off as a function of the current through the at least one transistor switching unit. See figures 1-3, col.3, lines 36-67 to col.8, lines 1-38

Regarding claim 10, Rudolph discloses that, the lamp is operated in a load circuit. See figures 1-3.

Regarding claim 11, Rudolph discloses an energy circuit for a high frequency AC voltage between the terminals V1 and V2 (corresponding to the frequency of the generated alternating current is matched to a resonant frequency of the load circuit.). See figures 1-3, col.3, lines 36-67 to col.8, lines 1-38.

Regarding claims 12-14, Rudolph discloses in which the at least one transistor switching unit is switched off at a prescribed threshold value as a function of the current flowing through it. See col.4, lines 26-61 and col.8, line 1-39.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2821

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by Rudolph et al (US 5,589,740) in view of Reiser (US 6,057,611).

Regarding claim 3, Rudolph discloses the claimed invention except at least one transistor unit comprises a MOSFET transistor. However, Reiser discloses at least one transistor unit comprises a MOSFET transistor. See col.3, lines 28-35.

It would have been an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a transistor unit comprise a mosfet such as that suggested by Reiser in the circuit of Rudolph to appropriate load ability in terms of voltage and current.

Regarding claim 4, Rudolph discloses, in which the lamp can be operated in a load circuit that is connected to the inverter device. See figure.

Conclusion

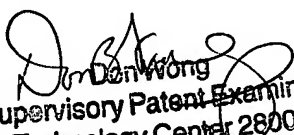

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Sabate (US 6,424,101) and Konopka et al . (US 6,194,845) are cited to show a lighting control system.
